METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL SUMMARY OF THE PROVINCE OF BENGAL FOR THE MONTH OF APRIL 1887.

THE month of April may be taken as the first full month of the hot season in Bengal, and the meteorological conditions of this month are hence characterised usually by steadily increasing temperature. At the same time also pressures generally decrease, considerably during the month, the decrease being brought about by a series of oscillations in which the downward movement is greater than the upward. Hot-weather storms or nor'-westers are also generally rather frequent in this month, and they are apparently brought about by the fact that the winds blowing over the province frequently form a kind of converging system, the component parts of which are of totally different character. Thus southerly and south westerly moist sea winds blow over the south of the province, and, as the month advances, they penetrate to a further distance inland. In East Bengal, on the other hand, these winds appear as south-east winds. Dry hot westerly winds blow from Northern India over the greater part of Behar and Chutia Nagpur, while easterly winds usually blow down the Assam Valley, and advance over the northern parts of the province. These three wind components vary in strength and persistency, and also in humidity, and by their interaction, which may take place in different parts of the province, nor'-westers are undoubtedly produced. The following short summary of the characteristics of these small storms was given in the weekly report for April 1st:—"Nor'-westers are local storms limited to a small area, but which are due to a general disturbance of the atmosphere over a large area. They may occur on the same day in East, North and South-West Bengal, but the storms in one district are not, as a rule, the continuation of storms in another district, in which respect they differ entirely from the larger cyclonic storms of the south-west monsoon. For some days before they occur the barometer falls in Bengal and Northern India; the sea winds blowing across the Bengal and Orissa coasts increase in strength and bring up much aqueous vapour into Bengal; whilst the land winds down the Brahmaputra and Gangetic valleys strengthen considerably. Bengal thus becomes a focus towards which winds, opposed in direction and character, converge. The result of their interaction during the hot-weather months is frequent periods of disturbance, shown chiefly by the occurrence of local thunder-storms. The barometer falls slowly for some days before, and oscillates rapidly during their occurrence. Each thunder-storm affects a small narrowish area, and probably does not advance as a violent storm more than 30 to 40 miles. They are accompanied by much atmospheric commotion on the small scale, frequently shown by the appearance of two, three, or even a greater number of cloud masses, moving at different elevations in different directions. The rainfall which accompanies these storms is hence very irregularly distributed, but as a general rule is greatest in the districts of East and North Bengal bordering on the Himalays, the Assam and Arracan hills, and is least in Behar and Central Bengal."

All the rain which is received in Bengal in April is practically brought up by these local storms, so that its distribution is sometimes very irregular.

At the latter end of March an unusually extensive and vigorous series of storms, accompanied by heavy rainfall in many districts, had occurred over the province, but with the disappearance of the disturbed conditions pressure had rapidly risen, and by the close of that month fine clear weather was established over the province. Owing also to the heavy rainfall which had accompanied these storms, the temperature was remarkably low for the season. At this time westerly winds were blowing in Behar and light unsteady winds in Bengal; but with the rapid increase of temperature which took place in the interior of the province, southerly moist winds again set in at the coast districts, and gradually extended their influence over the greater part of Bengal. Conditions became slightly unsettled again about the 6th or 7th, when a small disturbance, which appears to have formed in Upper or Central India, entered the province and gave light rain to South Behar and Chutia Nagpur on the latter date. The indraught towards the small disturbance increased considerably on the 7th and 8th, and strongish winds prevailed throughout the province; and on the 8th the disturbance passed into Southern Bengal, giving light to moderate showers over all parts of the province except Orissa on the one side, and East and the greater part of North Bengal on the other. On the 9th weather conditions became nearly settled in Chutia Nagpur and South-West Bengal, while the area of disturbance extended to North Bengal and Behar, where fairly general rain fell on this day. The wind directions over the province continued somewhat unusual, and about this period moist easterly winds were blowing over Behar instead of the usual dry westerly winds, and the air was consequently damper than usual over the interior of the province. A rapid fall of pressure then commenced on the 12th, accompanied by a decided increase in the strength of the southerly winds blowing over the coast districts, and of the easterly winds blowing in Behar, and slight atmospheric disturbance was caused which gave thunder-storms on the 14th in the neighbourhood of the hills in North Bengal and Behar, in the Sonthal Pergunnahs, in Maubhoom, and in many districts in South-West Bengal. On the 15th the disturbance extended to the south, and gave moderate rain to Orissa and the greater part of South-West Bengal, and also in the hill districts of North Bengal.

Up till about the middle of the month the weather over the province had been decidedly cooler than usual, and winds had been mainly southerly and easterly, but on the 18th westerly winds were re-established in Central and South Behar, and gradually extended eastwards, and forced their way across West into Central Bengal, producing of course a very rapid decrease in humidity, but a correspondingly rapid increase in temperature. There was in fact an unusually rapid increase in temperature on the 21st and 22nd, and temperatures reported about this date were very high. All the western districts at this time were practically free from rain, but showers continued to fall in East and North Bengal. These conditions were accompanied by a decidedly rapid and almost continuous fall of pressure during the week, which was greatest in the neighbourhood of North Bengal, and on about the 22nd pressure was decidedly low over this area, though perhaps it scarcely amounted to the formation of a distinct barometric depression. This low pressure area afterwards practically filled up, and towards the close of the month it had extended towards Central and Western Bengal. This distribution of pressure caused the wind system blowing over the province to be somewhat unusual; south-westerly winds were reported over the whole of Chutia Nagpur, Orissa and South-West Bengal, and even as far east as Noakholly in East Bengal south-westerly winds were reported on every day of the last week of the month; in North Bengal winds were south-easterly and in Behar easterly. Owing to the great increase in temperature before alluded to, which had taken place over the province, which continued for several days, and which had caused unusually large differences of temperature to obtain, and perhaps owing to the somewhat abnormal distribution of pressure just described, the sea winds blowing at the head of the Bay commenced to increase in force very rapidly, and on the 28th and 29th were blowing with most unusual force. This is shown by the fact that the wind velocity at Sangor Island for the last week in April averaged 20 miles an hour, and on the 28th and 29th it averaged 23 miles an hour; also the wind velocity at False Point and Gopalpur on the same days was 20 miles. The large amounts of moisture which were thus brought up by these strong winds commenced to give heavy rain over parts of North and East Bengal on about the 25th and 26th, and on the 29th, owing to the disturbed conditions having passed towards Central Bengal, showers became rather frequent over South-West Bengal on this day and on the 30th.

One feature of interest in the meteorology of April was the setting in of strong winds in the south of the Bay, as shown by the observations at the Ceylon stations on about the 28th instant. They only lasted for a day or two and then died away. This would probably point to an early setting in of the rains in the south of the Bay. It is possible that the small cyclone or cyclonic storm reported from Rangoon on May 3rd may have been a small storm in the front of this first advance of monsoon winds.

Pressure.—The barometric movements during the first week of the month were small and of little importance, and pressure was at that time very considerably in excess of the normal, the excess averaging about a tenth of an inch. During the second week the barometric changes were large, but the tendency of the changes was to slightly reduce the pressure, and there was a general fall of from 0.01" to 0.03", but still the mean pressure of the week was very considerably above the normal, and at this period the excess pressure was more marked over and near the Himalayan area than elsewhere. Pressure gave way almost continuously during the third week, and the average fall over the province was nearly equal to two-tenths of an inch, the fall being largest in North Bengal and North Behar. The mean pressure for this period was hence considerably below the average pressure of the week, and deficiency ranged from 0.06" in South and East Bengal and South Behar to 0.03" in Orissa. In the last week of the month also pressure variations were decidedly large, and following on the rapid fall of the barometer in the previous week, there was a rise which lasted from the 22nd to the 25th, but which was followed by another fall of almost equal amplitude, lasting from the 26th to nearly the end of the month.

The variation of the mean pressure of the province for the month from the normal mean was therefore not large, and only amounted to an excess of 0.024". The excess was largest in North Behar, where it amounted to 0.05", while it was only about 0.02" in Chutia Nagpur, South Behar and South-West Bengal.

Temperature.—As has before been indicated, temperature has varied very largely during the month, and for the first-half it was very decidedly lower than usual, when a rapid increase took place, and during the latter part of the month temperature became very high, and over large districts was decidedly above the normal. The causes which have brought about these changes have already been described, so they need not again be alluded to. For the first week the mean temperature of the province was 3° below the normal, the defect being most noticeable in South Behar, where it was 4.3°. In the second week weather was again very cool, and the average mean temperature of the province was almost 4° below the normal for the period, while in South Behar it was 6° below the normal, and in South-West Bengal it was 5° below it. A rapid change took place, temperatures increased largely, and for the third week the mean temperature of the province was about two-tenths of a degree in excess of the normal, Chutia Nagpur and South Behar showing the largest excess, amounting to about 1°, while in Orissa there was a defect of almost corresponding amount. Finally, in the last week the excess in the mean temperature had increased to about 1°, the excess being largest in South-West and East Bengal and in Chutia Nagpur. For the whole month the mean temperature has thus been somewhat below the normal, the defect being equal to about 1.5°, but the defect was actually largest in Behar, where it equalled 2.3°. The following tables, which give the temperature data for eight representative stations, will show clearly the great differences of temperature which have existed during these four weeks, and the manner in which the variations have been connected with the day and night temperatures and also with the mean temperatures :—

Some very high maximum temperatures have been reported during the month, the highest reported have been  $109.1^{\circ}$  at RaneeGUNGE on the 28th, and  $110^{\circ}$  at Chybassa on the same day; but in addition temperatures of above  $100^{\circ}$  have occurred in all districts except East Bengal.

The following represent the highest maximum temperatures in all districts except those of  $109.1^{\circ}$  and  $110^{\circ}$  just recorded :—

District.	Station.	Temperature.	Date.
Orissa ...	Cuttack	$108.4^{\circ}$	23rd.
South-West Bengal ...	Bankoora	$107.1^{\circ}$	28th.
East Bengal	Burrisal	$95.8^{\circ}$	20th.
	Commilla	$95.8^{\circ}$	24th & 26th
North Bengal	Rampur Beaulah	$102.4^{\circ}$	24th.

Rainfall—The periods of rainfall during April have already been discussed, and it will have been seen that, except in North and parts of East Bengal, where rainfall has been much more frequent than in other divisions, the periods of rainfall over the remainder of the province may be said to have been three only, the first on the 8th and 9th of the month, the second on the 14th and 15th, and the third from the 28th to the 30th. Rainfall for the whole month has been in slight but decided excess in North Bengal, Behar, and Chutia Nagpur, while it has been in slight but decided defect in Orissa and South-West Bengal. Finally, in East Bengal rainfall has been in very large defect. Thus in South Behar for the month there has been an average fall of 0.75 inch, the normal fall for April being 0.40 inch, the actual has therefore equalled 187 per cent. of the normal. In North Bengal 2.67 inches of rain have been received against a normal of 2.34 inches, and the actual fall expressed as a percentage is 114. In Chutia Nagpur there has been an average fall of 0.50 inch, the normal for April being 0.45 inch. The percentage of the normal in Chutia Nagpur is therefore 111. In North Behar the actual average fall has been 0.76 inch, against the normal 0.70 inch, which gives a percentage of 108. In other districts the falls are in defect; Orissa has recorded an average fall of 0.82 inch, the normal fall being 1.37 inches, the actual fall has therefore been about 60 per cent of the normal. South-West Bengal has received 1.18 inches, the normal being 2.05 inches and the percentage is therefore 57; while in East Bengal a fall of only 1.32 inches is recorded, while the normal fall is 3.87 inches, and this division has therefore only received 34 per cent. of the normal quantity. Considering that these districts have each an equal value in the calculation, it may be said that the average fall over the province for April has been equal to 98 per cent. of the normal amount.

As is usual, however, in the rainfall of April, the distribution is very irregular, and there are some districts in the above divisions which show a much greater deviation than is indicated in the above numbers. Thus in Orissa the district of False Point has only received about a sixth of the normal fall. In South-West Bengal the districts of Bankoora and Raniganj have received falls in excess of the normal, though situated in a division which has generally received a decided defect. On the other hand the Krishnagur district has received less than half its normal fall, and Jessore district only about one-eighth of it. In East Bengal the Chittagong district has received practically no rain, Burrisal district only a quarter of the normal fall, and Noakhally district about a tenth. In North Bengal the Bogra district has only received about an eighth of the normal fall, Serajgunge, Rampore Beaulah and Dinagapore districts about one-half the normal fall, while there have been centres of large excess falls in the Rungpore, Julpigoree and Darjeeling districts. In the districts of Behar there are no very large variations calling for comment, but in Chutia Nagpur, while Hazaribagh and Ranchi districts have received an excess fall, Chybassa is in large defect, having only received about a quarter of the normal fall.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven Meteorological Divisions of the Province for the month of April 1887 :—

LCUTTA, the 10th May 1887.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 6TH MAY 1887.

At the close of the previous week weather conditions over Central and South-West Bengal were a little disturbed, and small local storms with rain were numerous in these districts on Friday the 29th. There was a considerable increase in pressure on the 30th, but there was still a depression over parts of South Behar and Chutia Nagpur, and apparently over the Sonthal Pergunnahs, which distinctly modified the wind systems over the province, and winds were cyclonic in direction round the low pressure area. Strong southerly winds were blowing in the coast districts in Bengal, and these were continued as south-easterly and easterly winds over Central Bengal and Behar, causing the air to be unusually damp in the latter district. With the continuance of these disturbed conditions local storms with rain were again frequent over parts of South-West Bengal and in the districts near the hills of North Bengal, while all the stations in Assam from which reports are received (three only) also reported rain. On the 1st of May the pressure changes over the whole province were decidedly variable, showing that the disturbed conditions still obtained; the southerly winds blowing at the head of the Bay, however, fell off in force, though the main wind direction over the province remained south-easterly. On this day again local storms with rain were numerous in South-West Bengal, North Bengal and North Behar, while a few showers were reported from South Behar. On the 1st also rain was registered at the three reporting stations in Assam. On the 2nd of May the pressure variations over the province became less irregular, though pressure fell very decidedly, and the area of disturbance was practically confined to parts of North and East Bengal, and to the Sonthal Pergunnahs district, where moderate rain fell. Pressure continued to fall on the 3rd, and the changes were again irregular, so that disturbances were again reported in all districts except Orissa, Behar, and parts of North Bengal. A rapid reaction set in on the 4th, and pressure increased largely and became more nearly normal, though there was still an area of comparatively low pressure in the western parts of South Behar and Chutia Nagpur, and winds continued strongly easterly over the greater part of the province. On this day rain was again reported from all districts except Behar and parts of North and East Bengal. On the 4th of May Silchar reported 1.15 inches of rain. The rapid rise of pressure continued on the 5th, and the effect was to considerably decrease the differences of pressure over the province, and to raise the pressure rather largely above the normal, but the changes had little effect on the character of the winds blowing over the province, but on this day rainfall practically ceased everywhere. On the 6th pressure again commenced to fall, and winds became rather more southerly than they had been, and on this day also rainfall was practically absent.

It will thus be seen that the meteorological conditions over the province were considerably disturbed for the first five days of the week, and that local storms or nor'-westers with rain have been rather numerous during that period, particularly in South-West Bengal, East Bengal, North Bengal, and Chutia Nagpur, but the majority of these storms do not appear to have been of a very violent character, and the rainfall accompanying them has in most instances been light. Some of the reports, however, which have been received, appear to show that a few of them have been very violent, and also from the logs of some vessels which have recently been received, it would appear that some of them had advanced to a considerable distance from the land, and to have given very strong winds at sea. In one instance even hail was reported to have fallen at sea during one of these storms.

Pressure—Variations, as previously described, have been rather large during the week, and also for a certain period decidedly irregular. The mean pressure for the week has not, however, shown such large variations from the normal as might have been expected, but the small variations at neighbouring stations are in several instances of opposite character. The average mean variations for the week are as follow:—Pressure was in excess by 0.015" in South-West Bengal, and in North Behar by 0.008"; in all other divisions it was in defect. In Orissa and South Behar the defect was 0.014", in North Bengal 0.014", in Chutia Nagpur 0.009", in Assam 0.006", and in East Bengal 0.002". It will thus be seen that the variations of the mean from the normal pressure are in all cases small, and it may be said that the pressure for the whole province, taking the above divisions to have an equal value in the calculation, has been below the normal of the week by only 0.005".

Temperature—Was generally above the average at the commencement of the week, but with the occurrence of numerous local storms with rain it fell considerably, but irregularly. At the close of the week, owing to the cessation of rainfall, it had risen again very rapidly, and was generally rather largely above the normal in all districts except Orissa and Chutia Nagpur. The mean temperature for the week has thus been nearly normal in North Behar, and from 1° to 2° below it in Orissa, South-West Bengal, Chutia Nagpur and South Behar, while it has been about the same amount above the normal in East Bengal, North Bengal and Assam. The highest maximum temperatures reported during the week have been 108.3° at Chyassa on the 2nd, and 107.9° at Cuttack also on the 2nd.

Humidity—The principal feature of interest in this respect has been the unusually high humidity in Behar and at the western stations generally, due to the strong easterly winds which have prevailed almost throughout the week over the greater part of the province.

Rainfall—In Bengal has been brought about as before described by a succession of local storms, the largest amounts having fallen in South-West Bengal, which has received an average of 1.48 inches; Orissa has received 1.01 inches, East Bengal an average of 0.88 inch, North Bengal 0.87 inch, Chutia Nagpur 0.60 inch, North Behar 0.34 inch and South Behar 0.24 inch.

For the district of Assam it is impossible to give any average statements, as reports are only received from three stations. The rainfall at these three stations for the week has been at Sibsagar 0.91 inch, at Dhubri 1.01 inches and at Silchar 1.80 inches.

In Bengal the fall for the week has been slightly above the normal amount in Orissa, South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur; it has been slightly below the normal in South Behar, and largely below the normal in East and North Bengal and North Behar.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 6th of May 1887:—

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore .003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0.2° lower; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0.6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

NOTIFICATION.

The 17th May 1887.—The following orders of the Board of Trade are published for general information.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

Consecutive office No. 320—Departmental 1073—Surveyors 96.

Board of Trade, Marine Department, February 1887.

INSTRUCTIONS TO SURVEYORS.

Distress Signals.

THE Board of Trade are advised that Pyrotechnic Signals of Distress, which have been kept for a lengthened period, are liable to seriously deteriorate in quality, and are consequently not to be relied on when required for use. The Surveyors are therefore informed that in future no Pyrotechnic Signals of Distress, which are more than two years old, are to be passed for use on board Passenger and Emigrant ships. In the case of Pyrotechnic Signals which are less than twelve months old, the Surveyors should test by firing at least one sample of each description of signal supplied, but of signals between one and two years old double this number should be fired.

Any signals showing signs of dampness, careless manufacture, or unusual wear and tear should be regarded with suspicion, and should be dealt with in such a way as the Surveyor may think most expedient.

To enable the Surveyors to carry the foregoing regulations into effect, all Pyrotechnic Signals must in future be marked with the date of manufacture. The marking must be distinct, and must not be effected by means of an adhesive label. The requirements respecting the marking of signals will come into force on the 1st May 1887, and ship-owners and signal-makers should at once be informed that, on and after that date, no new Pyrotechnic Signals will be accepted unless this regulation is complied with, and that, on or before the 1st of May 1888, all the Pyrotechnic Signals which may have been already supplied must be replaced by new ones bearing the date of manufacture.

Copies of this circular should be distributed among the owners of Passenger and Emigrant ships, and the makers of Pyrotechnic Distress Signals in the different districts.

With reference to Holmes' Signals, Surveyors are informed that these signals, when kept on the rail ready for use, or otherwise exposed to the action of the weather, very quickly deteriorate, and are not to be relied on for more than 12 months.

This also applies to Holmes' Signals that have been kept in damp lockers, wheel-houses, or other places where they are exposed to moisture.

On the other hand, when efficiently taken care of, they have been known to remain good for a number of years. Surveyors should therefore examine them carefully. They should be marked with the date of manufacture in the same way as other Pyrotechnic signals, but must be dealt with as the circumstance of each case requires.

FOUNDATION OF A FREE SANSKRIT TOL BY SRIMATI ARNAKALI DEVI OF KASIMBAZAR, IN THE MOORSLEDABAD DISTRICT.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Calcutta, the 11th May 1887.

RESOLUTION.

READ the undermentioned papers regarding the foundation of a Free Sanskrit Tol by Srimati Arnakali Devi of Kasimbazar, in the Moorshedabad district :—

Endorsement from the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, No. 70M—G, dated 8th March 1887, and its annexure.

Endorsement from the Director of Public Instruction, No. 2876, dated 26th April 1887, and its annexures.

In a letter dated 16th February 1887 Srimati Arnakali Devi of Kasimbazar, in the district of Moorshedabad, informed the Magistrate of the district that, in commemoration of the Jubilee year of the reign of Her Majesty the Queen-Empress, she intended—

- (1) To found at Berhampore a free Sanskrit Tol, to be named the Victoria Free Sanskrit Tol, for the study of Sanskrit literature, philosophy and Dharma shastras, and to provide deserving students of the tol with free board at an annual cost not exceeding Rs. 2,000, with a Sanskrit library, to be attached to the institution and to be open to the public.

- (2) To give a donation of Rs. 500 to the District Committee for any permanent work of public utility which the Committee might think proper to undertake for the commemoration of Her Majesty's Jubilee.
- (3) To distribute food and clothing to destitute persons in her neighbourhood.

On this letter being forwarded to Government by the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, the Lieutenant-Governor called for a report from the Director of Public Instruction with regard to the promised foundation of a free Sanskrit Tol.

2. The Director of Public Instruction has now forwarded to Government a letter from the Deputy Inspector of Schools, Moorshedabad, reporting that the tol founded by Srimati Arnakali Devi was opened on the 4th March last by the Commissioner of the division, and that it is in working order. The tol has been called the "Victoria Free Sanskrit Tol." The Director believes that the institution will materially help in promoting Sanskrit learning in the Moorshedabad district. The Lieutenant-Governor has pleasure in tendering his thanks to Srimati Arnakali Devi for her liberal acts on this occasion.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that a copy of it be forwarded to the Commissioner of the Presidency Division for information and communication to Srimati Arnakali Devi of Kasimbazar.

Ordered also that a copy of the resolution be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

REPORT OF THE CHEMICAL EXAMINER TO GOVERNMENT FOR THE YEAR 1886.

The Report for 1885 and the Resolution recorded on it.

The number of analyses performed during the year under report was 2,286 compared with 2,343 in 1885. The following table shows the general nature of the work done during the year compared with that of the previous year:—

There was a decrease of 57 cases in the number of analyses performed during the year under review. Besides the analytical work, 19 opinions were submitted on various technical questions to departments under the Imperial and Bengal Governments. The diminution in the analytical work occurred chiefly under the following heads:—“Animal viscera tested for poison,” “Substances suspected to be, or to contain, poison, including cattle poison,” “Articles tested for blood stains,” and examinations for the “Small Arms Ammunition Factory, Dum-Dum.” On the other hand, there was an increase, chiefly under the following heads:—“Human viscera tested for poison,” “Spirit determinations for the Collector of Customs,” “Potable waters,” “Ghee,” “Petroleum” and “Spirits for deleterious adulterations.”

2. The first paragraph shows the work done; the result of that work is very clearly shown in the tables submitted with the report. The following brief summary shows the result:—The number of medico-legal examinations was 1,250 as against 1,437 in 1885. The most important examinations were, as usual, those for detecting poison in human viscera. In 18 per cent. of the cases arsenic, and in 19.5 of the cases opium, was detected; all other poisons together only accounted for 4.9 per cent. of the cases, bringing the number in which poison was discovered up to 42.5 per cent. of the whole. The experience of the Chemical Examiner shows that opium is generally used for suicidal, and arsenic for homicidal, purposes. The large increase under the head "Petroleum and inflammable oils" was due to the introduction of the Petroleum Act of 1886, although this has been in force only for a few months; all the samples tested flashed above the Government standard. Thirty-one specimens of country liquor were examined for fusel oil in accordance with the recommendations of the Excise Commission. A large number of spirit and wine analyses were undertaken at the request of the Commissariat Department. The proposal to have all wines and liquors supplied by the Commissariat Department first submitted for report to the Chemical Examiner's Department before issue, should be referred separately for submission to the Government of India in the Military Department. Amongst the articles tested for purity and quality were 63 samples of cloth examined for the Ordnance Department to discover why the tent cloth wore in holes and became unserviceable after short use; and examinations of locally manufactured cloth, to discover which variety was best suited for the use of troops.

3. More important at the present time than the analyses summarised above were those made in connection with the Ghee Adulteration Act. These showed that out of 17 samples from the mofussil including the districts of 24-Pergunnahs and Howrah, not one was adulterated; while out of 13 samples from the Commissariat 11 had to be condemned. This result is accounted for by the Chemical Examiner on the ground that mohwa oil and cocoanut oil are almost the only adulterants procurable in the mofussil, and that the addition of any considerable quantity of these gives a decided taste to the ghee, while in large towns lard and animal fat are procurable, and a judicious admixture of fat with poppy or mohwa oil and butter fat yields a good imitation ghee. Samples submitted by the Calcutta Police were not examined, as there is a Health Officer attached to the Municipality.

4. The investigation of the poisonous properties of indigenous plants was continued. Only in one case, that of Arum, Bish Kachoo, are the results given. The symptoms are not given, but the suggestion that the effects may be due to the mechanical action of pointed crystals in the tubers and leaves of the plant is a very interesting one. The detailed report is awaited.

5. Attention is drawn to the facts that arsenic was detected in 77 per cent. this year, as against 62·6 per cent. in 1885, of the substances examined because they were suspected to be intended for cattle-poisoning, while it was detected in 75·79 per cent. of cattle viscera sent for examination as against 73·5 per cent. in 1885 and 67·8 per cent. in 1884. The cases in which arsenic was found in human viscera were in 1884, 1885 and 1886, 22, 36, and 48 respectively; and it is pointed out that in the ten years preceding 1885 only once has the number in that year been exceeded. From a consideration of these figures, the necessity of legislation to prevent the sale of arsenic is again urged. It is observed, however, in the cases of suspected cattle poisons and viscera of cattle, that though the percentage of cases in which arsenic was detected was in 1886 in each case greater than in 1885, the actual number of cases where arsenic was detected was in each case less. In the case of viscera of cattle, 109 cases out of 157 examined showed traces of arsenic, as against 142 cases out of 193 examined in 1885. So in the case of suspected cattle poisons in 1886, 110 substances out of 144 showed arsenic against 176 out of 281 in 1885. It is also to be remembered that the necessity for exercising discrimination in sending such cases for examination has more than once been impressed upon Civil Medical Officers, and the result to be expected from increased discrimination is that out of a smaller number of cases submitted for examination, a larger percentage should be found to show traces of poison. The actual increase in the number of cases in which arsenic was detected in human viscera may, to some extent, be due to the rule directing that bodies in police cases should invariably be sent into the district headquarters for post-mortem examination by the Civil Surgeon, except when, by reason of the distance or other valid cause, there was a danger of the subject not arriving in a fit state for examination. Owing to this a far larger number of the post-mortem examinations have, during the last three years, been conducted by officers of high qualifications. It might be expected therefore that arsenic should be found in some cases, where, under the system formerly in force, its presence would not have been suspected.

6. The remarks of Dr. Warden and of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals on the use of Norton's tube wells as instruments for ascertaining the quality of water likely to be yielded before tanks are excavated or permanent wells are sunk, will be communicated to Municipalities and District Boards. Dr. Warden's experiments with such tubes appear to promise good results if they are carefully worked.

7. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Dr. Warden for the full and interesting report he has submitted, and for the good work done by him during the year. The Lieutenant-Governor also notices with satisfaction the high terms in which Dr. Warden speaks of the work done by Assistant Surgeon Chuni Lall Bose and Baboo Ram Chandra Datta.

PILGRIMAGE TO MECOA

THE following Resolution by the Government of India, in the Home Department, is published for general information:—

F. B. PEACOCK,

Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 2—102-14.

*Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Home Department (Sanitary),

READ—

Home Department Resolution No.  $\frac{1}{21-23}$ , dated the 21st January 1886, on the subject of the arrangements made with the firm of Messrs. Thomas Cook & Son for the conveyance of pilgrims from India to Jeddah and back.

RESOLUTION.

In paragraph 3 of the Resolution cited in the preamble, it was announced that the Government of India contemplated the appointment of Messrs. Thomas Cook & Son to be pilgrim agents for the whole of India, and the outlines of the scheme then adopted for the improvement of arrangements for the conveyance of pilgrims to and from the Hedjaz were sketched. The Government of India has recently been in personal communication with Mr. F. H. Cook, the representative of the firm of Messrs. Thomas Cook & Son, who has come to India with the object of carrying the proposed arrangements into effect. The Governor-General in Council is now pleased to notify, for the information of the public, the arrangements which have been completed with that firm for the better ordering of the pilgrim traffic.

2. The understanding upon which Messrs. Thomas Cook & Son have been appointed pilgrim agents is that the arrangements shall last for three years from the beginning of 1887, and shall be terminable at the end of that period at the option of either the Government or Messrs. Cook & Son. In the event of Government withdrawing after three years from the arrangement, Messrs. Cook & Son will be at liberty to continue it as a private enterprise. It is, of course, understood that, though Government gives its countenance and assistance to Messrs. Cook & Son's enterprise, it has no desire to constitute a monopoly in favour of the firm. As, however, the firm engages to convey pilgrims to Jeddah at a fair charge, to protect them while on the journey from extortion and ill-treatment, and to provide them with such comforts and facilities in the way of supplies of food and banking arrangements as may be found desirable and practicable, the Government is satisfied that pilgrims will do well to take advantage of the firm's arrangement. The charges to pilgrims will consist of (1) railway fare; (2) steamship fare; (3) landing charge at Jeddah. The railway fares will be fixed sums; and as they will follow the Railway tariffs, the amount will depend upon the distance of the place of departure from Bombay. The steamship fare will also be a fixed sum, which has been settled for the current season by the Government of India on the representation of Mr. F. H. Cook and the advice of the Government of Bombay as follows:—

				Rs.
Single tickets from Bombay to Jeddah, 1st class	...	...	...	60
Ditto ditto 2nd "	...	...	...	40
Ditto ditto 3rd "	...	...	...	30
Return tickets from Bombay to Jeddah and back, 1st class	...	...	...	90
Ditto ditto 2nd "	...	...	...	60
Ditto ditto 3rd "	...	...	...	45

Tickets, which will include the railway and steamer fares either to Jeddah or to Jeddah and back, and passports [which can be viséd by Messrs. Cook & Son at Bombay] will be kept for sale at the office of the Collector or Deputy Commissioner of every district in India, who will be supplied by the firm through the Local Governments and Administrations with a requisite supply of tickets and passports for issue. A register will be kept up in the office of issue in the form appended to this Resolution in order to facilitate the refund of the cost of tickets in cases in which they are not availed of. A copy of the entries in the first three columns of this register will be sent monthly by each district officer to Messrs. Thomas Cook & Son at Bombay, and the amount realized by the sale of tickets, which may in the meantime be deposited in the Treasury, will at the same time be remitted to Messrs. Thomas Cook & Son by means of a transfer receipt issued at par.

3. It has been arranged with Messrs. Thomas Cook & Son that the cost of tickets shall be refunded to the purchasers, or in case of their death to their heirs, should the holders of them be unable to start on the pilgrimage owing to illness or any other cause. Should a pilgrim die on the pilgrimage while under the charge of Messrs. Cook & Son's agents, the unused portion of the steamer ticket held by him will be recovered by such agents, and its value refunded by the firm through the Treasury and the District Officer to the pilgrim's heirs. If a pilgrim does not wish to return to India, he may, by delivering the unused portion of his steamer ticket to Messrs. Cook & Son's agent at Jeddah, obtain a refund of the price of such unused portion. The question of refunding the value of the unused portion of tickets for the railway journey is still under discussion; but Messrs. Thomas Cook & Son hope to be able to establish a system by which refunds of the price of unused railway tickets may, in the circumstances alluded to above, be also introduced.

4. Messrs. Cook & Son have engaged to send a Muhammadan employé of the firm on each steamer to see that the pilgrims are properly taken care of; and a Muhammadan doctor will accompany each steamer. The firm will be prepared to send at ten days' notice from any district a Muhammadan to accompany any party of pilgrims to Bombay, provided that the party consists of at least 30 persons. Arrangements have been made to enable pilgrims to deposit cash at a small charge at Messrs. Cook & Son's agency at Bombay, and to draw it at the firm's agency at Jeddah; and it is in contemplation to make provision whereby pilgrims will be able with full regard to religious customs to purchase food on board steamer at moderate rates.

5. Messrs. Thomas Cook & Son have agreed to submit their accounts for audit during the years for which Government has granted to them a guarantee against actual loss in the execution of these arrangements up to £2,000 for the first year and £1,000 for each of the two following years. It has been arranged that the audit of accounts shall be undertaken in the office of the Accountant-General, Bombay; and the Government of Bombay is requested to issue the necessary instructions to that officer, who may, if necessary, decide under its instructions, in what form the accounts of the firm should be kept. The result of the audit will be communicated through the Government of Bombay to the Government of India.

6. Messrs. Cook & Son have prepared a prospectus which has been approved by the Government of India regarding the arrangements which are summarised above. Copies of this prospectus are herewith forwarded in order that they may be circulated as widely as possible. Local Governments and Administrations are requested to notify to this office, with as little delay as practicable, the number of additional copies that may be required.

7. The Governor-General in Council now leaves it to the Local Governments and Administrations to issue the subsidiary orders necessary to ensure that every facility is afforded to pilgrims who wish to provide themselves with tickets and passports. He also desires that district officers should be instructed to give the widest possible publicity to the advantages which will be secured by the purchase of return tickets. In fine, no effort should be spared to make known and explain the objects which His Excellency in Council has in view, and to facilitate the issue of tickets and passports in order that a full and fair trial may be given to the scheme as now made public.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to all Local Governments and Administrations, and to the Foreign and Financial Departments, for information and guidance, and for the issue of such subsidiary orders as may be necessary.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

[True Extract.]

A. P. MACDONNELL,

Secretary to the Government of India.

THE Government of India being desirous of taking measures to alleviate the hardships and reduce the mortality during the pilgrimage to Mecca of its own Muhammadan subjects, and of those of neighbouring countries who pass through India, has experimentally, and on certain terms and subject to certain conditions, accepted the services of the firm of Messrs. Thomas Cook & Son as agents to secure the safety and comfort of pilgrims on the land journey and voyage.

It is to be clearly understood that pilgrims can make arrangements for the pilgrimage to Mecca in any manner that they please; those who employ the services of Messrs. T. Cook & Son will enjoy the advantages set forth in the following notification prepared by that firm, which is published for the information of all concerned:—

1. Tickets will be kept and sold at the office of the Collector or Deputy Commissioner of every district.
2. The price of these tickets will include railway and steamer fares of pilgrims from the place of departure to Jeddah.
3. The full fare will be charged on single tickets to Jeddah; but upon return tickets which are purchased before starting, a reduction of one-fourth of the double fare between Bombay and Jeddah will be allowed. There will be no reduction on the railway fares.
4. By taking return tickets beforehand, pilgrims will not only save money, but will have to carry less cash with them, thus avoiding danger of loss on the journey.
5. Each purchaser will receive a railway ticket to Bombay, a steamer tickets from Bombay to Jeddah, and a landing ticket for the small boats at Jeddah; and each of these tickets will be collected at each of these places separately by or under supervision of the agents of the firm.
6. Intending purchasers of tickets are recommended to apply for them about a month beforehand. No risk is run by purchasing tickets, beforehand, as the cost of them will be refunded to the purchaser, or in case of his death to his heirs, if from illness or any other reason the holder is unable to start.
7. Should a pilgrim die on pilgrimage while under the charge of Messrs. Cook & Son's agents, the unused portion of the steamer ticket held by him will be recovered by such agents, and its value refunded by the firm through the district officer to the pilgrim's heirs. If a pilgrim does not wish to return to India, he may, by delivering the unused portion of his steamer ticket to Messrs. Cook & Son's agents at Jeddah, obtain a refund of the price of such unused portion.
8. The return ticket for one year's haj is available for a second year if pilgrims prefer to return after the second year's haj.
9. Arrangements for female attendants and for the privacy of purdah-nashin women on the steamers will be made as far as practicable.
10. Dates of departure of pilgrim steamers will be fixed and notified beforehand at the office of the Collector or Deputy Commissioner of the district, to save needless delay and expenditure to pilgrims at Bombay.
11. Seaworthy and properly found and equipped steamers will be employed with a view of ensuring the safety and comfort of the pilgrims.
12. The pilgrims will be allotted sufficient space to enable them to sleep and sit with comfort.
13. A Muhammadan employé of the firm will accompany each steamer to see that the pilgrims are properly taken care of and are not subjected to unnecessary hardships.
14. The firm will have agents at Jeddah and at Bombay to render every assistance possible to pilgrims.
15. Pilgrims will be at liberty to deposit cash at Messrs. Cook & Son's agency at Bombay, and draw it at the firm's agency at Jeddah at a small charge.

16. Pilgrims will also be able to deposit with Messrs Cook & Son's agency at Jeddah cash or valuables until their return from Mecca on payment of a small charge.
17. A Muhammadan doctor (hakim), with medicines, will accompany each steamer.
18. Any alterations that may be made in the rate of fares for tickets will be ascertainable at the office of the Collector or Deputy Commissioner of the district.
19. By these arrangements pilgrims will escape the extortions which have been frequently practised on them in Bombay.
20. The firm will be prepared to send at ten days' notice from any district a Muhammadan to accompany any party of pilgrims to Bombay, provided that the party consists of at least 30 persons.
21. Hitherto passports issued by district officers had to be viséd at Bombay by the Commissioner of Police, whose office is at some distance from the place where pilgrims reside in Bombay. Under present arrangements passports issued at the office of the Collector or Deputy Commissioner of the district simultaneously with the tickets can be viséd at the office of Messrs. T. Cook & Son, which is close to the pilgrims' resting place. Passports issued by Messrs. T. Cook & Son can be obtained either at the office of the Collector or Deputy Commissioner of the district where the ticket is purchased, or at the office of the firm in Bombay.
22. The price of single tickets for the present season is as follows; but this is subject to revision in future seasons:—

					Rs.
1st class	...	...	...	...	60
2nd „	...	...	...	...	40
3rd „	...	...	...	...	30

The above includes the steamer fare alone from Bombay to Jeddah. Railway fares and landing charges are not included in it.

23. The price of return tickets from Bombay to Jeddah and back is as follows:—

					Rs.
1st class	...	...	...	...	90
2nd „	...	...	...	...	60
3rd „	...	...	...	...	45

24. Arrangements for supplies of food and for cooking on the steamers are receiving the attention of the firm.
25. There will be no interference with the religious or social observances of the pilgrims. All persons employed in this part of the business of the firm will be Muhammadans of respectable character, and the wishes of the majority of the Muhammadans will, as far as possible, be carried out when practicable.
26. Tickets will be obtainable for the present year's haj at the office of the Collector or Deputy Commissioner of each district on or after this date.
27. The firm have appointed a Muhammadan Superintendent, who will travel constantly amongst the Muhammadan committees and explain all details connected with the arrangements, and will visit the various Mecca committees formed by the Muhammadan Gentlemen at each centre after the meetings held all over India by Messrs. F. H. Cook, R. F. Saunders, and Salamoolah Khan during the past cold weather.

The mean pressure, temperature, &amp;c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

CALCUTTA, the 17th May 1887.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVA-TIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 13TH
MAY 1887.

At the close of the previous week a rapid rise of pressure had taken place over the province, by which it had been raised rather largely above the normal, and by which the differences of pressure over the province had been rendered very small. The high barometer had been accompanied by fine weather, and for the last two days of the week rainfall was practically absent over the whole province. On Friday, the 6th, however, the high pressure commenced to give way, and a rather rapid fall set in, which continued for several days. In addition to the rapid reduction of pressure which took place on the 7th, the most important feature in the meteorology of this day was the setting in of dry westerly winds over the west of the province, which was accompanied by a considerable reduction in the humidity, and by decrease in the cloud proportion at the western stations; on this day also temperature was decidedly high and considerably above the normal. On the 8th the barometer again fell, and the changes showed that a distinct barometric depression had been formed over the western part of the province. On this day south-westerly winds were reported from Dehree, from Chutia Nagpur and from some of the stations in Orissa and South-West Bengal; in East and North Bengal winds were southerly and south-easterly, while in Behar winds were easterly. A considerable amount of interaction was therefore taking place between more or less opposing wind currents, and this, taken in connection with the barometric depression which had formed, showed that weather conditions had become distinctly unsettled, particularly in the west of the province. The unsettled conditions were immediately followed by rainfall, and on this day rain was reported from several of the stations in South Behar, as well as from some in North Bengal. On the 9th pressure again fell and the area of low pressure extended in a southerly direction, and the wind directions reported showed that there was a distinct tendency to cyclonic circulation round the area of low pressure. The area of disturbance having enlarged and travelled southwards, on this day rain was reported in moderate amounts from all divisions of the province except Behar and part of Chutia Nagpur. On the 10th pressure again fell, and there was still a well marked depression over Orissa and the western part of the province, round which there was a tendency to cyclonic circulation. On this day the area of disturbance appears to have travelled a little southwards, and rainfall was practically absent from Chutia Nagpur, Orissa, Behar, and North Bengal, though rain showers were still very frequent in all other districts. On the 11th pressure rose over the greater part of Bengal, while a rapid fall of pressure took place on the coast of the Circars, showing that probably the area of low pressure had again travelled southwards, and had thus ceased to a great extent to influence Bengal. On this day therefore rain showers were rather less frequent and lighter, and they were received over a smaller area. By these changes the lowest pressure in Bengal had been transferred to the west of the province, and therefore conditions were becoming more normal. On this day, however, general rainfall commenced in Assam, which had hitherto received no rain, and Sibsagar, on the 11th, reported a fall of 2.91 inches. A further fall of pressure, however, took place on the 12th instant, and rainfall became more general again over South-West Bengal, but in other districts rainfall was decidedly local. The Assam stations again reported rain on the 12th. A further very rapid fall of pressure, averaging nearly a tenth of an inch, took place on the 13th, and pressure became very largely below the normal, the defect in some instances equalling two-tenths of an inch. Pressure had in fact fallen to such an extent, and was so very low, that on this day the distribution was similar to that which generally obtains at the commencement of the rainy season, and was quite unlike that which is usual in the middle of May. The rapid changes of pressure which were taking place over the province still showed that conditions were very disturbed, and on this day again rain showers were numerous in South-West Bengal, in the hill districts of North Bengal and in some parts of Orissa. Rain also fell at all the stations in Assam from which reports are received. For the last 4 or 5 days of the week, therefore, it will have been seen conditions were disturbed over a large part of the province, and rain showers have been frequent, though, as a rule, the amounts received daily have been small except in East Bengal. A point of interest in connection with the meteorology of the week has been that in Ceylon, during the latter end of the week, another advance of monsoon winds appeared to be taking place, but it had not progressed very far up the Bay.

Pressure.—As has been stated in the previous general summary, pressure has steadily fallen almost throughout the week, and at its close it was decidedly largely below the normal. At the commencement of the week, however, pressure was above the normal by considerable amounts, so that the mean pressure for the week does not vary so much from the normal as it otherwise would have done. In Orissa the mean pressure for the week has been below the normal by 0.08", in South-West and East Bengal the defect has been about 0.05", in North Bengal, in Chutia Nagpur and Behar the defect has been about 0.07", and in Assam it has been about 0.08". The average defect for the whole province of Bengal and Assam has therefore been about 0.07", while the western parts of the province show, if anything, the largest defects.

Temperature.—At the close of the previous week had risen rather rapidly owing to the cessation of rainfall, and was generally above the normal in all districts except Orissa and Chutia Nagpur. At the commencement of the present week temperature rose, but, with the occurrence of rainfall, the changes of temperature became rather irregular, depending on the distribution of the local storms and rainfall. The mean temperature of the whole province for the week has, however, been decidedly above the normal in all districts, the average excess in all the districts equalling about  $3^{\circ}$ , but the excess has to a great extent been confined to Behar, Chutia Nagpur, and Assam. In Assam the temperature for the week has been  $5.5^{\circ}$  above the normal for the period; in North Behar the excess has been  $5.6^{\circ}$ , in South Behar  $4.7^{\circ}$  and in North Bengal  $3.5^{\circ}$ , while in Chutia Nagpur the excess has been  $3.4^{\circ}$ . Maximum temperature during the present week has not been quite so high as in the previous week, and the highest maximum temperature recorded has been  $107.6^{\circ}$  at Gya on the 9th.

Humidity.—The principal feature during the week with regard to this element of meteorology has been the very high humidity in Behar and Chutia Nagpur, due to the unusual preponderance of easterly winds in these districts, which has been a rather conspicuous feature in the meteorology of the province for the greater part of May.

Rainfall.—As has been stated previously, has been fairly general over the whole province on some days during the week, but the greater part of the fall has occurred in local storms, and is therefore irregularly distributed. The districts in Bengal receiving the largest amount of rainfall have been South-West and East Bengal. Thus East Bengal has received an average amount of 4.00 inches falling on 3.3 days in the week, and South-West Bengal has received an average fall of 1.28 inches on 2.3 days. In all other cases the average rainfall has been below one inch. The only district in Bengal which has received a rainfall in excess of the normal for the period is East Bengal, where the average fall has equalled 163 per cent. of the normal fall. The fall in South-West Bengal during the week has nearly equalled the normal, the actual fall being 90 per cent. of the normal for the period. The fall in South Behar has been smaller and only equals 74 per cent. of the normal. In North Bengal the fall has been much smaller, and it only equals 53 per cent. of the normal, while in Orissa and North Behar the actual falls have only been 44 and 34 per cent. respectively of the normal falls. Finally, in Chutia Nagpur rainfall has been almost entirely absent, and only equals 6 per cent. of the normal.

Of the three stations in Assam from which rainfall reports are received—Sibsagar has received 3.41 inches of rain during the week, Silchar 1.86 inches and Dhubri 0.71 inch. These falls have occurred, as stated previously, on the last three days of the week.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 13th of May 1887:—

MEMORANDUM.

DURING the week ending 30th April 1887, the returns of the principal Municipalities in Bengal disclosed the following particulars :—

1. That births and deaths were registered in these Municipalities at the rates, respectively, of 15·8 and 24·5 per 1,000 of population as opposed to 18·9 and 28·4 per 1,000, respectively, during the preceding week ending 23rd April, indicating a considerable reduction in the registration of both events.

2. That these events were returned at the highest rates by the following Municipalities :—

General remarks on the fluctuation of principal staples carried over the East Indian Railway during 4 weeks ended 26th March 1887.

INCREASES.

Coal and coke.—There was an increase in the upwards and a small decrease in the downwards despatches, resulting in a net increase in the upward traffic which was due to increased demands from Foreign railways.

Cotton.—This was due to the favourable state of the cotton market reported on for February having been continued during March.

Wheat.—This increase is attributable to demand in the Calcutta market.

Rice (husked and unhusked).—Due, as regards upwards, to demands at stations above Dumraon and at stations on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway; the downward despatches were for shipment to Malabar and Madras.

Oil.—This increase was principally in Kerosine oil, and follows a decrease in February 1887.

Railway Material, Foreign.—Due to despatches for the Indian Midland Railway and the Bengal and North-Western Railway.

Salt.—The increase in this commodity is due to the price of salt ex-ship in Calcutta having fallen during the period as compared with the previous month.

Saltpetre.—Due to the Calcutta market being firm.

DECREASES.

Turmeric.—This decrease was principally in the despatches from Patna to the North-Western Railway.

Guany.—This decrease may be ascribed partly to the poor crops in the Punjab this year of wheat for export, and partly to the growing production of bags by the Cawnpore Jute Mills.

Gram and pulses.—Due to limited despatches owing to high prices ruling in the Punjab.

Opium.—Due to Government arrangements of despatch of this drug.

Seeds.—The decrease was principally in linseed, and was due to the crops this year being later than in 1886, and to demand in the Calcutta market being less.

Spices.—Due to a partial failure of the chilli crop in Behar and Tirhoot.

Sugar and jaggres.—The causes were the same as last month, viz., poor crops near stations in the Dinapore district.

Tobacco.—The decrease was chiefly in the despatches from Barh, Patna Ghât, and vid Mokameh Ghât, due to some extent to a poorer crop than usual.

Two classes of permits are issued for grazing in the blocks open:—

- (1). Quarterly permits, for grazing in open blocks of the Upper forests only, which can be issued only to cultivators who are tenants of Government in the Kalimpong Sub-division for their own cattle.
- (2). Monthly permits, for grazing in the open blocks of the Upper or Lower forests, to applicants generally. Should any tenant of Government in the Kalimpong Sub-division be allowed to graze his cattle in the lower forests, he must take out a monthly permit and will receive no concession in the matter of rates.

17. With the previous sanction of the Local Government, the Commissioners may make rules consistent with this Act and with the Indian Ports Act, 1875, for any of the following purposes:—

(a) for regulating, declaring and defining the wharves, quays, stages, jetties and piers on and from which goods shall be landed from and shipped in vessels within the port;

And may from time to time, with the like sanction, repeal or alter such rules.

18. Within the limits of the port, pilots in charge of vessels shall obey all lawful orders issued to them by the Commissioners in respect to such vessels.

19. The Commissioners shall make a sufficient number of landing-places within the port, from and upon which the public may be permitted to embark and land free of charge.

20. The Commissioners may occupy or remove or alter any bathing-place or landing-place within the port, and prohibit the public from resorting to or using such bathing-place or landing place:

Provided that the Commissioners shall provide for the use of the public such other bathing-places or landing-places, if any, as the Local Government may, by notification, direct.

21. For the expeditious and convenient landing and shipment of goods from and in sea-going vessels within the port, and for the storing of such goods, the Commissioners may provide and maintain sufficient wharves, quays, stages, jetties, piers, warehouses and sheds, and sufficient servants and appliances, and may by their servants land and ship all goods from and in any such vessel coming to such wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier, except where there is a lawful excuse for refusing to land or ship such goods, or such vessel is under any enactment for the time being in force not entitled to have her cargo shipped or discharged:

Provided that—

(a) the Commissioners shall not be bound to land, ship or move any single article or package exceeding ten tons or twenty hundredweight in weight, except at such special charge as may be agreed on in respect of such article or package;

(b) the Commissioners may, by special agreement with the masters of vessels or the owners of goods, permit goods to be landed and shipped by others than the servants of the Commissioners.

22. When any wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier has been made and completed, with sufficient warehouses, sheds and appliances for landing and shipping, or for landing or shipping goods from and in sea-going vessels, the Commissioners may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, by a notification published in three consecutive numbers of the Calcutta Gazette, declare that such wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier is ready for receiving, landing and shipping, or for landing or for shipping, as the case may be, goods from and in sea-going vessels.

Sea-going vessels compelled to use wharves, &c.

From and after such publication the Commissioners may from time to time, when there is room at such wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier, order to come alongside of such wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier for the purpose of landing and shipping goods, or for landing or for shipping the same, as the case may be, any sea-going vessel within the port which has not commenced to discharge cargo, or which, being about to take in cargo, has not commenced to take in cargo.

23. When a sufficient number of wharves, quays, stages, jetties, piers, warchonses, sheds and appliances have been provided as aforesaid, the Commissioners may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, by an order published in three consecutive numbers of the Calcutta Gazette, direct that no goods shall be landed or shipped from or in sea-going vessels within the port, save at such wharves, quays, stages, jetties and piers.

The Commissioners may in like manner, with the like sanction, alter, vary, or revoke such order.

24. When any wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier for receiving, landing or shipping goods from or in vessels, not being sea-going vessels, has been made and completed by the Commissioners, with sufficient warehouses, sheds and appliances in that behalf, the Commissioners may, with the sanction of the Local Government, by an order published in three consecutive numbers of the Calcutta Gazette, declare that such wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier is ready for receiving, landing and shipping goods from or in vessels, not being sea-going vessels, and that, within certain prescribed limits within the port to be specified in such order, it shall not be lawful to land or ship any goods from or in any vessel, not being a sea-going vessel, of any class specified in such order, except at such wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier, or for any such vessel while within such limits to anchor, fasten or lie within fifty yards of low-water mark without the consent of the Commissioners.

If after such publication any such vessel, while within such limits, so anchors, fastens or lays, the Commissioners may cause the same to be removed out of the said limits.

The Commissioners may in like manner, with the like sanction, alter, vary or revoke any such order.

25. The Commissioners may, by notice in writing, order the master or owner of any vessel to remove such vessel from any wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier belonging to the Commissioners, and unless such vessel is removed therefrom within thirty-six hours after service of such notice on the master or owner thereof, the Commissioners may charge in respect of such vessel such sum as they think fit not exceeding one hundred rupees for each day of twenty-four hours or portion of such day after the expiry of such thirty-six hours during which such vessel remains at such wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier.

26. Notwithstanding anything contained in sections twenty-two, twenty-three and twenty-four, the Local Government may, by notification, from time to time permit certain specified vessels or classes of vessels to discharge or ship cargo, or certain specified cargo or classes of cargo, at such part of the port, in such manner, during such period, subject to such payments and on such conditions, as the Local Government may think fit, and otherwise grant exemption from the provisions of such sections.

The Local Government may also, by like notification, cancel or modify any such notification.

27. Whenever any goods are landed by the Commissioners from any vessel, the Commissioners shall, if so required, give to the master of such vessel a receipt in the form set forth, or to the effect set forth, in the second schedule of this Act, and may in any such receipt include all goods landed from such vessel during one day:

Provided that no master or owner, of a vessel, from which the goods in respect of which such receipt is given may have been landed, shall be liable for any loss or damage to such goods which may occur after they have been so landed.

28. When the Local Government appoints, under the provisions of any Act for the regulation of duties of customs, any wharf, quay, stage, jetty, pier, warehouse or shed provided under this Act for the use of sea-going vessels to be a wharf for the landing or shipping, or a warehouse for the storing, of goods within the meaning of such Act, the Commissioners shall set apart, maintain and secure on or in such wharf, quay, stage, jetty, pier, warehouse or shed such portion thereof or place therein, or adjoining thereto, for the use of the officers of Customs as the Local Government approves of or appoints in that behalf.

29. Notwithstanding that any wharf, quay, stage, jetty, pier, warehouse or shed or portion thereof, has, under the provisions of the last foregoing section, been set apart for the use of the officers of Customs, all dues, rates, tolls, charges and rents payable under this Act in respect thereof, or for the use thereof, or for the stowage of goods therein, shall be paid and be payable to the Commissioners or to such persons as they may appoint to receive such dues, rates, tolls, charges or rents.

30. Save as is hereinafter provided, no person except the Commissioners shall, after the date on which this Act comes into force, make, erect or fix below high-water mark within the port any wharf, dock, quay, stage, jetty, pier, erection or mooring.

Any matter or thing so made, erected or fixed may be removed by the Commissioners, and the person who has so made, erected or fixed any such matter or thing shall be punished with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, and with a further fine which may extend to one hundred rupees for every day during which such matter or thing has been permitted to remain so made, erected or fixed after notice to remove it has been given to him, and shall also be liable to pay all expenses which may have been incurred by the Commissioners in removing such matter or thing.

31. The Commissioners may, by an order in writing, and subject to the conditions contained in the same, permit any person to make, erect or fix below high-water mark within the port any wharf, dock, quay, stage, jetty, pier, erection or mooring.

32. In case any wharf, dock, quay, stage, jetty, pier, erection or mooring is, after the date on which this Act comes into force, without the consent in writing of the Commissioners, made, erected or fixed below high-water mark without the limits for the time being of the port, and thereafter the limits of the port are extended so as to include the place in which such wharf, dock, quay, stage, jetty, pier, erection or mooring has been made, erected or fixed, the Commissioners may remove, fill up, or destroy such wharf, dock, quay, stage, jetty, pier, erection or mooring without making any compensation therefor.

33. The Commissioners shall frame—

(a) A scale of tolls, dues, rates and charges for the landing and shipment of goods from and in sea-going vessels and vessels not being sea-going vessels respectively, at the wharves, quays, stages, jetties and piers, and for the use of such wharves, quays, stages, jetties and piers by such vessels, and for the storing and keeping of any goods stored in any premises belonging to the Commissioners, and for the removal of goods, and for the use of any mooring.

(b) A scale of tolls for the use of the said wharves, quays, moorings, stages, jetties and piers by any such vessels, in case the Commissioners permit the goods to be landed or shipped by others than their own servants.

(c) A scale of charges for any services to be performed by the Commissioners or their servants in respect of any vessels or goods, or for the use of any works or appliances to be provided by the Commissioners.

Such scales shall be submitted to the Local Government, and, after approval or modification by the Local Government, shall be published by the Commissioners in the Calcutta Gazette.

The Commissioners may from time to time in like manner, with the like approval or modification and publication, alter such scales.

Every such scale shall be printed in the English and Bengalee languages and characters, and shall be hung up, and kept hung up, in some conspicuous place at the several wharves, quays, stages, jetties, piers, warehouses and sheds.

34. For the amount of all tolls, dues, rates and charges leviable under this Act in respect of any goods, the Commissioners shall have a lien on such goods, and shall be entitled to seize and detain them until such tolls, dues, rates and charges are fully paid.

Tolls, dues, rates and charges in respect of goods to be landed shall become payable immediately on the landing of the goods, and in respect of goods to be removed from the premises of the Commissioners or to be shipped for export, shall be payable before the goods are removed or shipped.

The lien for such tolls, dues, rates and charges shall have priority over all other liens and claims, except a lien for freight, primage and general average where such lien has been preserved in the manner hereinafter provided, and a lien for money payable to Her Majesty or the Secretary of State for India in Council under any law for the time being in force.

35. If the master or owner of any vessel, at or before the time of landing from such vessel of any goods at any wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier, gives to the Commissioners notice in writing that such goods are to remain subject to a lien for freight, primage or general average of an amount to be mentioned in such notice, such goods shall continue liable after the landing thereof to such lien.

Such goods shall be retained either in the warehouses and sheds of the Commissioners, or, with the consent of the Chief Officer of Customs, in the public warehouses, at the risk and expense of the owners of the said goods, until the lien is discharged as hereinafter mentioned.

36. Upon the production to any officer appointed by the Commissioners in that behalf of a document purporting to be a receipt for, or a release from, the amount of such lien, executed by the person by or on whose behalf such notice has been given, the Commissioners may permit such goods to be removed without regard to such lien:

Provided that they shall have used reasonable care in respect to the authenticity of such document.

37. Whenever goods have, without any default on the part of the Commissioners, been left for two clear days on or in any wharf or shed belonging to the Commissioners, the Commissioners may cause such goods to be removed either to any warehouse belonging to them, or, with the consent of the Chief Officer of Customs, to the public warehouses; and the removal to and detention in any such warehouse shall be at the risk and expense of the owners of the said goods.

Whenever any goods are so removed, the Commissioners shall give notice to the consignee or owner of such goods of such removal, if his address be known, by letter sent by post to such address or left thereat; and shall also publish by notification and in the local newspaper or newspapers notice of such removal, and shall specify therein the numbers, marks and descriptions of such goods so far as the same appear; and the consignee or owner of such goods, in addition to the expenses of their removal, shall be liable, in case the goods are removed to any warehouse of the Commissioners, to a charge for warehousing for the time during which the goods shall remain in the said warehouse.

If the goods are removed to the public warehouses, the said consignee or owner shall be liable to the charges for warehousing goods in such public warehouses; and the said goods shall remain subject to all liens to which they would have been liable if they had remained in the possession of the Commissioners, and shall be subject to the power of sale hereinafter given.

38. If the tolls, dues, rates and charges payable to the Commissioners in respect of any goods under this Act are not paid, or if the lien for freight, primage or general average where such notice as aforesaid has been given is not discharged, the Commissioners may, and in the latter event, if required by or on behalf of the person claiming such lien for freight, primage or general average, shall, at the expiration of four months from the time when the goods were placed in their custody, sell by public auction the said goods, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amounts hereinafter directed to be paid out of the produce of such sale.

Before making such sale, ten days' notice shall be given by publication thereof in the Calcutta Gazette and in the local newspaper or newspapers.

If the address of the owner of the goods has been stated on the manifest of the cargo, or in any of the documents which have come into the hands of the Commissioners, or is otherwise known, notice shall also be given to the owner of the goods by letter delivered at such address or sent by the post; but the title of a bond fide purchaser of such goods shall not be invalidated by reason of the omission to send such notice, nor shall any such purchaser be bound to enquire whether such notice has been sent:

Provided that, if such goods are of so perishable a nature as, in the opinion of the officer appointed by the Commissioners in that behalf, to render early or immediate sale necessary or advisable, the Commissioners may, within such period not less than twenty-four hours after the landing of the goods as they think fit, sell by public auction the said goods or such portion of them as aforesaid, in which event such notice, if any, shall be given to the owner of the goods as the urgency of the case admits of.

39. The proceeds of every such sale shall be applied as follows:—

Application of sale proceeds.

- (a) in payment of the expenses of the sale;
- (b) in payment, according to their respective priorities, of the liens and claims excepted in section thirty-two from the priority of the lien of the Commissioners;
- (c) in payment of the tolls, dues, rates and charges of landing, removing, storing or warehousing the goods, and of all other charges due to the Commissioners in respect thereof.

The surplus, if any, shall be paid to the importer, owner or consignee of the goods, or to his agents, on his applying for the same:

Provided that such application is made within one year from the sale, or reason is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioners why such application was not so made; and in case such application shall not be so made, nor reason shown, such surplus shall be held by the Commissioners upon trust for the purposes of this Act.

40. If the master of any vessel in respect of which any tolls, dues, rates, charges or penalties are payable under this Act, or any rules or orders made in pursuance thereof, refuses or neglects to pay them or any part of them on demand, the Commissioners may apply to the Collector of Customs of the port, and such Collector shall distrain or arrest such vessel and the tackle, apparel and furniture belonging thereto, or any part thereof, and detain the same until the amount so due to the Commissioners is paid.

Recovery of tolls and charges by distress of vessel.

And in case any part of the said tolls, dues, rates, charges or penalties, or of the costs of the distress or arrestment, or of the keeping of the same, remains unpaid for the space of five days next after any such distress or arrestment has been so made, the Collector of Customs may cause the vessel or other thing so distrained or arrested to be sold, and, with the proceeds of such sale, shall satisfy such tolls, dues, rates, charges or penalties and costs, including the costs of sale remaining unpaid, rendering the surplus, if any, to the master of such vessel on demand.

41. If the Commissioners give to the officer of Government whose duty it is to grant the port clearance of any vessel a notice stating that an amount therein specified is due in respect of tolls, dues, rates, charges or penalties chargeable under this Act, or any rules or orders made in pursuance thereof, against such vessel, or by the owner or master of such vessel, in respect thereof, or against or in respect of any goods on board such vessel, such officer shall not grant such port clearance until the amount so chargeable has been paid.

42. In case any damage or mischief is done to any wharves, docks, quays, jetties, stages, piers or works constructed or acquired by the Commissioners under this Act by any vessel, through the negligence of the master thereof or of any of the mariners or persons employed therein, any Magistrate of the town of Chittagong may, on the application of the Commissioners, and on declaration by them that payment for such damage or mischief has been refused or has not been made on demand, issue a summons to the master or owner of such vessel, requiring him to attend on a day and at an hour named in the summons to answer touching such damage or mischief.

If at the time appointed in the summons, and whether the person summoned appears or not, it is proved that the alleged damage was done through such negligence as aforesaid, and that the pecuniary amount of the same does not exceed five hundred rupees, the Magistrate may issue his warrant of distress, under which a sufficient portion of the boats, masts, spars, ropes, cables, anchors or stores of the vessel may be seized and sold to cover the expenses of and attending the execution of the distress, and the pecuniary amount of damage as aforesaid, and such amount shall be paid to the Commissioners out of the proceeds of the distress:

Provided that if, at the time of the damage or mischief, the vessel was under the orders of a duly authorized officer belonging to the Pilot Service or the Harbour-Master's or Master-Attendant's Department, the case shall not be cognizable by the Magistrate under this section.

43. The Commissioners shall provide such sums as the Local Government may from time to time require for the establishment and maintenance of police, to be called "River Police," for the protection of the port, the approaches to the port and the river. Such sums shall be a first charge on any property vested in, and on any moneys paid or payable to, the Commissioners under this Act.

"River police."

The River Police shall be enrolled under Act V of 1861 (for the Regulation of Police).

CHAPTER IV.

GENERAL CONTROL OF GOVERNMENT.

44. All acts and proceedings of the Commissioners shall be subject to the approval of the Local Government who may cancel, suspend, or modify any such acts or proceedings, and may grant exemption from the payment of any tolls, charges, dues or rates leviable under this Act.

Commissioners' acts subject to approval.

When any land is held under any zemindar or under-tenure-holder by any road patrol in lieu of, or in addition to, his salary for the protection of any road or pass, the zemindar or under-tenure-holder who is responsible for the protection of such road or pass, shall, if assessed under section twenty-four of this Act, be entitled to receive rent for such land at the same rate as is paid for similar ryotwari land in the vicinity.

An order under the hand of the Deputy Commissioner in the form in Schedule C hereto annexed shall be furnished to such zemindar or under-tenure-holder.

27. All zemindars and under-tenure-holders specified in the list mentioned in section twenty-four of this Act shall pay the amount entered therein against their names to the District Superintendent of Police monthly, who shall pay the same to the road patrols to whom it may be due.

28. If the amount due from any zemindar or under-tenure-holder for any month is unpaid after the fifteenth day of the next succeeding month, the Deputy Commissioner shall issue a notice calling on the defaulting zemindar or under-tenure-holder to pay the same, together with the costs of serving the notice, within fifteen days from the service of the notice.

29. If the amount specified in the notice is not paid within fifteen days, the Deputy Commissioner may attach the holding of such zemindar or under-tenure-holder, and retain possession of the same until such amount has been recovered out of the income derivable therefrom.

30. Every road patrol appointed under this Act shall perform the following duties:—

1st—He shall patrol the roads within his beat under instructions from the District Superintendent of Police, and shall protect all travellers passing along his beat.

3rd—He shall report to the officer in charge of the police-station within the jurisdiction of which his beat is situated the movements of all bad or suspicious characters along his beat, as well as all unusual circumstances that come to his notice.

4th—He shall supply any local information which the Deputy Commissioner or any officer of police may require.

TRANSFER OF THE BERHAMPORE COLLEGE AND THE COLLEGIATE SCHOOL TO LOCAL MANAGEMENT.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT--EDUCATION.

Calcutta, the 14th May 1887.

RESOLUTION.

READ the following papers on the subject of the proposed transfer of the Berhampore College to local management :—

Government Resolution, dated the 18th June 1886.

Letter from the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, No. 5ME, dated the 29th December 1886, and its enclosures.

Letter from the Director of Public Instruction, No. 1213, dated 12th February 1887, and its enclosures.

In the Resolution, dated 18th June 1886, a summary was given of the recommendations made by the Education Committee and approved by the Government of India, on the subject of the gradual withdrawal of the State from the immediate management of Colleges; and it was stated that, in pursuance of the policy thus deliberately adopted, it would be necessary, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, to make some arrangement before the 1st of May 1887 for the transfer to private managers of the Midnapore and Berhampore Colleges. Sir Rivers Thompson at the same time expressed his confident anticipation that the public spirit and interest in high education, for which the two districts immediately affected are remarkable, would not be wanting to maintain the two Colleges, with such support as this Government would give under the ordinary grant-in-aid rules. The results have justified this anticipation. Sanction was given in November last to the transfer of the Midnapore College to the management of the local municipality with a grant from Government. In the case of the Berhampore College, the London

Missionary Society represented that they were prepared to take over the management, after transfer of the more costly portion of the teaching staff, on condition of receiving from Government a grant-in-aid of Rs. 300 a month, together with a special grant of Rs. 100 a month, so long as the remainder of the Government staff should not be transferred. Another offer has been received from Maharani Sarnamayi, c.i., of Cossimbazar, in the Moorshedabad district, who promises to contribute Rs. 1,000 per mensem for five years towards the cost of the Berhampore College, thus relieving the State altogether from the burden of its support, on condition that the management of the College is made over to a Board of Trustees whom she has nominated. This munificent proposal the Lieutenant-Governor has decided to accept in preference to the offer made by the London Mission Society. The Lieutenant-Governor has been led to this decision by regard to the unanimous opinion of the Education Commission that Government colleges should be transferred for management rather to native bodies than to missionary societies, and also with regard to the fact that Maharani Sarnamayi's contribution will give the greater relief to public funds.

2. In accordance with the proposals made by Maharani Sarnamayi, the Berhampore College, and the school attached to it, will have in future an establishment costing Rs. 1,199 rising to Rs. 1,399 a month. The control of the College, administrative and financial, will vest in a Board consisting of seven Trustees, the District Judge and the District Magistrate for the time being, Babu Boikanta Nath Sen, B.L., Babu Srinath Pal, B.L., Babu Shama Dass Roy, Dr. Ram Dass Sen, zemindar, and Babu Gopal Chunder Mookerjee, M.A., B.L., Pleader of the Judge's Court, Moorshedabad. The following members of the existing staff of the College and School will be transferred to other posts in Government service, viz., the Principal, the Assistant Professor of Sanskrit, the Lecturer in Physics, the Head-master of the Collegiate School, the Second Master of the Collegiate School. Future appointments will be made by the Board of Trustees, but the Director of Public Instruction will be always ready to give the assistance of his advice should it be required for the purpose of securing a suitable selection. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to see the inter-school rules made for the common benefit of educational institutions observed in the Berhampore Collegiate School. The Lieutenant-Governor sanctions the transfer of the following funds to the management of the Board of Trustees:—

The Hostel Fund—Consisting of Rs. 14,000 invested in Government 4 per cent. paper, and yielding an annual income of Rs. 560.

The Building Fund—Consisting of Rs. 14,000 invested in 4 per cent. Government paper, yielding an annual income of Rs. 560.

The Rajib Lochan Scholarship Fund—Consisting of Rs. 15,000 invested in 4 per cent. Government securities, yielding an annual income of Rs. 600.

3. It is stipulated that the first-named fund shall be devoted to the maintenance of the hostel attached to the Collegiate School. The Building Fund may be devoted as proposed by Maharani Sarnamayi to the creation of scholarships. The Rajib Lochan Scholarship Fund will continue to be applied to its present uses.

4. On the terms and conditions which have been above stated, the Berhampore College and School may at once be transferred to the Board of Trustees.

5. Finally, the Lieutenant-Governor tenders his cordial thanks to Maharani Sarnamayi for her munificent endowment, which is one of a long succession of splendid gifts which she has made for the benefit of the public.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that a copy of it be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction for information, and to the Commissioner of the Presidency Division for information and communication to Maharani Sarnamayi.

Ordered also that a copy be forwarded to the Government of India in the Home Department for information, with reference to the correspondence ending with Mr. MacDonnell's letter No. 206, dated 9th July 1886.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT OF THE HEALTH OFFICER OF THE PORT OF CALCUTTA
FOR THE YEAR 1886.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MARINE.

Calcutta, the 20th May 1887.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

A letter No. 1642RA, dated the 24th February 1887, from the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal, submitting the Report of the Health Officer of the Port of Calcutta for the year 1886.

Dr. Lynch was the Health Officer of the Port of Calcutta for nearly six months of the year. During his absence, on leave, Dr. Vincent Richards was in charge. The report is submitted by Dr. Lynch through the Sanitary Commissioner.

2. The report shows that 1,516 vessels were inspected during the year against 1,406 in 1885 and 1,197 in 1884. The increase was entirely in the number of outward-bound vessels, and was due to the new system of granting bills-of-health. There was an actual decrease in the number of inward-bound vessels inspected, the number being 712 against 780 in the preceding year. This decrease was in the number of coasting vessels inspected, it not being necessary to inspect these at each return visit.

3. The average number of European seamen in the port was 2,326 against 1,693 in the previous year, the total number of arrivals being 23,696 against 21,449. The increase in the average number was mainly caused by vessels staying longer in port owing to low freight; the average number in port being 100, whereas in 1885 it was 75.

As regards the health of European seamen in the port, the year under review compares unfavourably with the preceding year, though it is very much better than the year 1884. If deaths out of hospital are included, the death-rate of the three years is as follows :—

			Cholera.	Other causes.	Total.
1884	...	...	21.96	41.57	63.53
1885	...	...	4.72	25.99	30.71
1886	...	...	11.61	33.53	45.14

It is necessary to include deaths outside hospitals, as conclusions derived from hospital statistics alone are liable to be affected in a number of ways. If the number of beds available remains the same while the population increases, it is obvious that the number of deaths in hospital will bear a smaller and smaller ratio to the total population; also as cases of a more trifling character are excluded from hospital, while those admitted stay a longer average time there, there is a decrease in the number of admissions. A sudden increase in the number of beds would affect the returns in an opposite direction.

4. There was a considerable increase in the number of fatal cases of cholera, 27 deaths having occurred against 8 in the previous year. It is to be observed, however, that 1885 was an especially favourable year in regard to cholera. The rate of mortality in 1886 was much lower than in any of the four years preceding 1885. Enteric fever shows an increase from 4 admissions to hospital with one death in 1885 to 12 admissions with 4 deaths in 1886. The Lieutenant-Governor would have liked to see some notice of these cases, and some attempt to explain the increase, in the Report. On the other hand, it is satisfactory to observe that there were no deaths from either scurvy or small-pox. There was regrettable increase in the number of deaths from sunstroke on board ship from 1 to 5, which seems to point to a relaxation in the endeavours, which were favourably noticed in the last Resolution, to prevent unnecessary exposure of sailors while at their work. The Port Commissioners will be asked to call the attention of masters of vessels to the notice published by them on this subject on 22nd August 1884.

At sea there were 41 deaths amongst European seamen against 46 in the previous year.

5. Last year it was remarked that there had been no increase of venereal disease among the European seamen, notwithstanding the withdrawal of the Contagious Diseases Act from Calcutta. This year, however, there has been very great increase.' The following are the figures for the present and the three preceding years:—

Year.						Total number of admissions into hospital.
1883	...	...	...	...	...	237
1884	...	...	...	...	...	184
1885	...	...	...	...	...	170
1886	...	...	...	...	...	417

6. Out of four steamers which arrived during the year with pilgrims from Mecca, one had small-pox on board, of which no intimation was given by the master. Another steamer arrived from England with cases of small-pox on board, but in this instance due notice was given by the master. Seven cases of scurvy were found in five vessels. Two of these vessels were from Liverpool, one from Mauritius, and two from New York. In the case of one of the ships arriving from New York, it was ascertained that the crew were supplied with an inferior kind of biscuit, and that their food was cooked badly. The lime-juice supplied to them was, moreover, seriously deficient in strength. The Sanitary Commissioner calls special attention to the decision of the Shipping Master, that the case of this vessel does not come under the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act of 1847 respecting medicines, medical stores, and anti-scorbutics. He will be asked to report separately on this point. Several cases of scurvy were also found among the lascars on board a vessel arriving from Muscat. The lime-juice on board was analysed and found good. No vegetables were, however, supplied to the crew. The reason given was that vegetables are found with the greatest difficulty in Muscat. This explanation is not sufficient. If vegetables are not procurable at Muscat, a double supply should have been taken from India on the outward voyage.

7. The sanitary condition of the river has not been wholly satisfactory. Dead bodies continue to float down the river in large numbers; 70 human bodies and 4,853 carcasses of animals were found floating, and dealt with by the Water-police, as against 50 and 4,136 in 1885, and 86 and 3,975 in 1884. It is probable, as observed by Dr. Lidderdale, that this evil might be mitigated by the exercise of greater vigilance at the burning ghâts in the thickly populated riparian tracts above Calcutta. The attention of the Commissioners of the Presidency and Burdwan Divisions will be drawn to the matter. Besides this source of pollution, sewage still finds its way into the river in various ways pointed out by the Sanitary Commissioner. From Fort William part of the sewage flows into the river, and the attention of the Government of India has been called to this. The drainage, including the contents of the sewers of a large bazar of the town of Howrah, is discharged into the river. The Sanitary Commissioner is doing his utmost to remedy this, and a copy of his remarks will be sent to the Municipality. Complaint is still made of the defective state of the conservancy of Tolly's Nullah and of the khal running through the King of Oudh's premises. The Sanitary Commissioner will be separately asked to report whether any improvement has been effected by the action taken by the Magistrate of the 24-Pergunnahs and Chairman of the Municipality in August last under the Penal Code and the municipal bye-laws. Flushing inlet to No. 3 main drain at the jetties has had its gradient altered, and it is hoped that this will remedy the evils complained of. The condition of flushing inlet to No. 4 main drain has engaged the attention of the Municipal Commissioners. The Sanitary Commissioner will be asked to report how far the action taken proves successful in mitigating the nuisance on the riverbank. The latrines are reported to be defective in construction and not large enough for the numbers frequenting them, and sewage escapes from them into the river. A copy of the remarks on the latrine in the Port Commissioners' dock at Howrah will be sent to the Port Commissioners for consideration.

8. In his report for 1885 the Health Officer remarked that the present plan of conveying water to the shipping by means of iron tanks placed in country boats was open to objection, as the lids of the tanks were not always kept closed, and there was danger that the men in charge, who spent most of their time on the top of the tanks, would convey impurities to the water. He therefore recommended the construction of suitable water-tank boats, in compartments, with the water inaccessible except through the pump, and with proper facilities for cleaning. The attention of the Calcutta Municipality was drawn to the matter, but it appears that on financial grounds that body was not able to take action in the matter. The Health Officer now suggests that an addition of one anna per 1,000 gallons to the charge for filtered water would not be felt as a grievance, and would quickly repay the outlay. Dr. Lidderdale suggests that the Port Commissioners should purchase the water from the Corporation and undertake its distribution. A copy of their remarks will be sent to the Corporation and to the Port Commissioners for consideration.

9. The Health Officer has represented the difficulty and inconvenience which he experienced in carrying on his duties during the early part of the year in consequence of the detention of his steam-launch in the dockyard for repairs. He suggests that if he were permitted to make contracts in the open market, he would be able to superintend the carrying out of his own estimates, and economy and efficiency would be secured. This question is being separately considered.

10. The Lieutenant-Governor endorses the commendation bestowed upon Dr. Lynch and Dr. Richards by the Sanitary Commissioner for the care and efficiency with which they carried on their duties during the year. His Honour also notices with pleasure that the native Sanitary Inspector is reported to have given satisfaction.

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT ON THE WORKING OF ACT I OF 1882, THE INLAND EMIGRATION ACT, IN THE DISTRICT OF CHITTAGONG DURING THE YEAR 1886.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—INLAND EMIGRATION.

Calcutta, the 25th May 1887.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Memorandum No. 293GM, dated 5th April 1887, from the Commissioner of Chittagong, and enclosed reports from the Magistrate of Chittagong and the Deputy Commissioner of the Chittagong Hill Tracts, on the working of the Inland Emigration Act I of 1882 during the year 1886.

The figures given in the Magistrate's report are complete only as regards labourers who have executed contracts under Act I of 1882. These are employed on nine tea-gardens, all in the district of Chittagong, and their numbers during the last two years are compared in the following statement:—

					Labourers under the Act.
					1885.	1886.
Total at beginning of the year	...	...	...	..	915	723
Deduct during the year	...	...	...	...	335	205
Balance	...	...	...	...	580	518
Add during the year	...	...	...	...	143	199
Total at end of the year	...	...	..	..	723	717

2. Of the labourers added during the year, only 50 were imported from outside, while 121 persons executed local contracts under sections 111 and 112 of the Act. Of those deducted the contracts of 130 expired during the year, 22 died, 22 deserted, and the rest are otherwise accounted for. The deaths, which were chiefly caused by fever and bowel-complaints, were at the rate of 30 in the thousand. The exceptional mortality noticed in last year's report in regard to the Fatikcherra Estate, and which was attributed to defects in the water-supply, has disappeared, apparently in consequence of the sinking of a well from which excellent water is pumped into a cistern. Six of the nine gardens employing labourers under the Act were inspected during the year, and five gardens not employing Act labourers were also visited. Of the three gardens employing Act labourers, which are not visited, one is situated in the station cantonments, and the other two employed together only 11 Act labourers. The Lieutenant-Governor must again, as in last year's Resolution, call the Magistrate's attention to the rule which requires that all gardens which come under the provisions of the Act shall be inspected at least once during the year. The average earnings of labourers, as noticed during inspections, are said to have amounted to Rs. 4-10-5 per month exclusive of sums paid for occasional job work. The Magistrate writes on this subject:—

"Out of this a coolie has to keep himself. The amount is not a large one, but there are many circumstances which are to be taken into consideration. With this rate of wage an ordinary labourer in the mofussil can maintain himself on Rs. 2 to Rs. 2-8 per month. Besides this, the coolie has no rent to pay for his land; he has nothing to spend in repairs to his house; he has a garden given him, where he can sow vegetables sufficient for the consumption of himself and his family, and each time he re-engages he is given a bonus, usually ten rupees and a blanket. Moreover, as in this report, no tikha pice are to be shown; the average rate is not shown as high as it might be. In the Sungoo Tea Estate during the plucking season the average earnings of the coolies amounted to Rs. 13."

It is also stated that, according to the general custom of the gardens, coolies are not forced to work when they are unwilling to go out, and that the general average of wages as shewn above is lowered by non-working coolies. Only one labourer in the district was punished under Act I of 1882 for desertion during the year, against 15 persons convicted for desertion and unlawful absence from labour in 1885. The coolies on the Ropley Tea Estate struck work in May 1886, and on a complaint that they were not properly paid, the Inspector made a local investigation, with the result that the complaint was pronounced to be untrue. On this estate, however, the Inspector found it necessary to intervene on behalf of the labourers in order to ensure that their wages for Sundays should be calculated in accordance with section 116 of the Act.

3. On the whole, the Act is said to work smoothly in the district. The Magistrate writes on this subject as follows:—

“The results of the inspections recorded are satisfactory as showing that the coolies are well treated by their employers, and are happy and contented with their lot. Each garden has its own hat, and no fee is demanded by the manager from the villagers who come to sell on hot days; there is always an abundant supply of provisions for the coolies. There is, too, on most gardens a moody's shop where oil, salt, &c., are sold at moderate prices to the coolies. With regard to their houses, managers find it to be the best policy to allow their coolies to build houses for themselves as they like best, due regard of course being had, as much as possible, to sanitary arrangements, the prevention of disease, and the spread of contagious diseases. Thus a coolie line is more like the ordinary Bengali bustee than anything else, each house having its own yard, small vegetable garden and cow-house, and many have stocks of cattle and poultry and a patch of cultivation for rice free of rent. The hospital accommodation and supply of medicines is good on all estates; and when a coolie is seriously ill, beyond the capacities of the ordinary doctor Baboo, he is sent in to head-quarters for treatment at the municipal hospital.”

4. A memorial was received by the Lieutenant-Governor during the year from employers of labour in Chittagong for the extension of Act XIII of 1869 to the Chittagong district. Similar proposals had been made in 1881, and had been then rejected after full consideration; and the Lieutenant-Governor was of opinion that no sufficient grounds were shown by the memorialists for a reconsideration of the former decision. It is to be hoped that the time is not far distant when the necessity for any special law of contract in the Chittagong district will have ceased to exist.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

CALCUTTA, the 24th May 1887.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 20TH OF MAY 1887.

THE meteorological conditions of the present week do not call for very detailed remark. Pressure was, on the 13th May, decidedly below the normal, and on Saturday, the 14th, the pressure changes over the Province were generally small, and it was rising slightly in most districts, but still pressure was largely below the normal, the defect in some instances being as much as 0.2", and the general distribution of pressure over the Province was similar to that which generally obtains immediately before the commencement of the rainy season. Dry westerly winds were blowing in Chutia Nagpur and at many of the stations in South Behar, south-westerly winds were blowing in Orissa and South-West Bengal, southerly and south-easterly winds in East Bengal, and strongly easterly winds in Assam and in the northern districts. Rain was falling in North Bengal in the districts near the hills, and rather heavy rain was reported from all the stations in Assam, and on the 14th Dhubri reported 3.49 inches and Sibsagar 1.49 inches. With the occurrence of westerly winds also humidity had become decidedly low at the western stations in the Province. On the 15th, pressure commenced to increase, but otherwise conditions scarcely altered; rainfall still continued in North Bengal and in Assam, while a few stations in East Bengal also received rain. This was followed, on the 16th, by a rapid rise of pressure over the greater part of the Province. On the 17th, the increase of pressure practically ceased, and for the remainder of the week there was little or no change, except on the 19th, when there was a small general increase of pressure. Weather conditions therefore remained for these five days almost similar to those at the commencement of the week, and rainfall continued in Assam almost daily throughout the week, Dhubri, on the 16th, again receiving the heavy fall of 2.56 inches. Rainfall was also general in the hill districts of North Bengal on practically every day of the week, while only a few showers were received in East Bengal and in the eastern districts of South-West Bengal. Except for a few isolated showers, the remainder of the Province has been practically rainless for the week.

It will thus be seen that the tendency of the changes during the week was to bring back to a great extent the ordinary hot weather conditions to Bengal, and the week has been characterised usually by absence of rain, except in the districts above referred to, extremely high temperature, and very low humidity at the western stations.

Though the week has thus, from a meteorological point of view, been a quiet and normal one in Bengal, certain changes have been taking place in the Bay of Bengal. Stormy winds were blowing in the south of the Bay at the close of the previous week, but they shortly died away and became almost normal in force. On the 18th instant, however, winds began to increase in force again at the southern stations, and winds became north-easterly at Diamond Island and easterly at Akyab. On the 19th, winds again strengthened in Ceylon, pressure fell at Diamond Island, where wind became south-east, and wind at Akyab became north-east. These conditions developed still further on the 22nd; and on this day it became clear that a cyclonic storm was forming to the west and north-west of the Andaman Islands, and the formation of the storm was being accompanied by a large increase in the wind velocity at Diamond Island. Conditions therefore at the close of the week had become decidedly disturbed in the Bay; and in the centre and south-east of it probably at this time weather was decidedly stormy.

Pressure was, at the commencement of the week, largely below the normal; but it rose almost steadily throughout the week, so that at its close it had become more nearly normal. The mean pressure for the week has thus been below the normal in all districts. The average defect is about 0.06 inch, and the defect is fairly equally distributed in all districts except Chutia Nagpur; for at those stations from which pressure averages have been obtained for the largest number of years, and excluding the newly-established stations, the extreme variations are from a defect of 0.099 inch at Calcutta to one of 0.074 inch at Bankipore and 0.071 inch at Saugor Island.

Temperature, as might be expected from the conditions above described, has been very high throughout the week, and in all districts, except Assam, where temperature has been very nearly normal. It has been from about 3° to 7° above the normal. The average mean temperature for the whole of the Province of Bengal has been 4.5° above the normal, while in Chutia Nagpur it has been 7.1° above the normal. Some extremely high maximum temperatures have been recorded. The following are the highest maximum temperatures in each meteorological division of the Province, including Assam:—

DIVISION.	Date.	Station.	Temperature.
	1887.
Orissa ...	16th May ...	Cuttack ...	113.9°
South-West Bengal ...	15th ..	Ranegunge ...	110.0°
East Bengal ...	16th ..	Barrisal ...	91.3°
Assam ...	14th ..	Ram-gere Beaulah ...	105.4°
Chutia Nagpur ...	14th ..	Chupra ...	109.0°
North Bengal ...	14th ..	Jaypore ...	110.1°
Central Bengal ...	14th ..	Bar-nag ...	106.5°
South Bengal ...	14th ..	Bar-nag ...	93.5°

Several times in the week nearly 20 stations in the province in a day have reported maximum temperatures of above 100°. Some idea will also be given of the high temperature which has obtained when it is stated that, on the 19th, four out of the six reporting stations in South Bihar registered temperatures above 100° at 10 A.M., while at Dehree on this day at 10 A.M. it was 105·8°.

Humidity—Some remarkably low humidities at the western stations have been reported during the week. Thus, at 10 A.M. of the 19th, at Hazaribagh, the humidity was only 7 per cent. of the possible amount. At Hazaribagh and Ranchee, on the 18th, the saturation was only 10 per cent., and on several days at such stations as Hazaribagh, Dehree, Buxar, and Ranchee the humidity varied from 10 up to 13 per cent. These figures represent excessively dry states of the atmosphere.

Rainfall, as has already been stated, has been mainly confined to Assam, North Bengal, and to parts of East and South-West Bengal. In Assam the rainfall has apparently been heaviest, and at the three stations which send in reports, the following amounts have been received:—Dhubri 7·55 inches, Silchar 2·34 inches, and Sibsagar 2·18 inches. In North Bengal the districts in and near the hills have received very heavy rain. Thus, the Julpigoori district has received an average fall of 5·39 inches, the Darjeeling district 3·87 inches,* and the Rungpore district 2·04 inches. In East Bengal, the Mymensingh district has received an average of 1·54 inches, but, with these exceptions, no other district has received an average fall of an inch during the week. The following districts have received average falls of between half and one inch:—Krishnagar, Jessore, Dacca, Serajgunge, and Rampore Peauleah. Very small average falls are reported in most of the remaining districts of Orissa, South-West, East and North Bengal, but, excepting in Purneah, no rain has fallen in Bihar or in Chuta Nagpur. Some very heavy falls of rain have already occurred at some of the Northern Bengal stations; and thus at Buxar in the Darjeeling Hills district, 7·11 inches of rain were received on the 18th, Dinhatta, in the Cooch Bihar district, received 3·12 inches on the 16th, while several falls of between 2 and 3 inches have been reported.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday, the 20th of May 1887:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 14h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.
